Keep the purest form of democratic government

The town of Lexington is poorly run because of town meeting reps instead of classic town meetings; the simple explanation is that the reps get A. entrenched after being elected and B. are less informed and less interested in the key issues of the day as compared with their own neighbors. In Andover the most interested citizens are free to come vote any year they choose when it s important to them; and the issue outcome is quickly settled once and for all. In Lexington they must have expensive and time-consuming referendums to override/overcome what was the poor will of the TMM (Town meeting members). In general Lexington votes in new expensive whiz-bangs and neglects the maintenance and upkeep on the infrastructure the town owns. Please have me testify and NEVER adopt TMM approaches as it always leads to bad decisioning.
